

Nijkleaster

The Nijkleaster Foundation was founded on the 22nd of April 2009. Its objective is the development of a new monastery in the province Friesland. At this website you may find some of our thoughts and dreams. Unfortunately most of the material is written in either the Frisian or Dutch language. Hereunder you may find a short description in English.

Nijkleaster as a pioneer project started at the 28th of October 2012. Three partners participate in this project: Nijkleaster itself, the parish Westerwert (4 villages 15 km. south-west of Leeuwarden, the capital of Friesland, a province in the north of the Netherlands) and the department of missionary work of the national Protestant Church in the Netherlands. The Pioneer projects in the Netherlands are comparable to the Fresh expressions of church in the United Kingdom. Nijkleaster feels acquainted to the movement called New Monasticism.

Mission

Nijkleaster (new monastery) aims at establishing a new monastery in the province of Fryslân (in the Netherlands). This new monastery will be a center, based on the protestant tradition, where people may withdraw themselves into the quiet in order to find breathing-space, and simultaneously have the opportunity to meet other people in liturgy and conversation, study and work, enjoyment en re-creation. Its mission is to find new alleys and directions for the gospel in order to promote personal, social and religious renewal. Nijkleaster wants to be an open community, open to the world. Nijkleaster is open and ecumenical in essence, but Protestant in origin. Men, women and children of a diversity of churches (denominations) and traditions are wholeheartedly invited and welcome. We want to be rooted in our own Frisian culture and history, and at the same time be open to the worldwide ecumenical community.

Nijkleaster as a movement started in October 2012 from scratch. Rev. Hinne Wagenaar was appointed as parish pastor en pioneer minister. The monumental church of Jorwert (c. 1100) was rented from a foundation protecting Frisian monumental churches. Bit by bit specific programs were organized and people from over the Netherlands came to join in. The church itself badly needed restoration and rebuilding, which basically happened in the years 2012-2015. Many volunteers have come to join and support the Nijkleaster movement, clergy as well as non-clergy.

Nijkleaster uses, concerning its buildings, the triple formula with three K's: Kerk-Kroeg-Klooster which means: Church, Pub and Monastery (Church, Café and Cloisters). The church is rented in the village. Opposite the church we find the eldest village pub of Friesland. We take our monastery meals in this pub. Directly situated opposite the pub is a farmhouse with a large farmyard. Presently (2015) plans are in the making to acquire en develop this farmhouse and yard as home for Nijkleaster. This will be the challenge for the years to come (2015-2018).

We project Nijkleaster as a new monastery with a small group of people forming the permanent Nijkleaster community. At the same time will Nijkleaster be a place to receive quests. Hospitality is part of our vocation. People may stay as guests for a longer or shorter period of time. Regularly week en weekend programs will be offered.

Nijkleaster does not want to compete with local churches in Friesland or elsewhere. It is meant to be complementary. It offers the opportunity to (active) church members to quiet down and have time and rest to themselves, to search for and find new inspiration. It offers the chance to meet new people, besides the common people of their own parishes. At the same time, Nijkleaster explicitly want to offers hospitality to those who cannot find a place (anymore) in the institutional churches, and finally to all pilgrims of any color whatsoever.
